Brett W. Christiansen Elected to MCAA Board of Directors

ROCKVILLE, MD—The Mechanical Contractors Association of America, Inc. (MCAA) elected Brett W. Christiansen to its Board of Directors during the association's annual convention in Scottsdale, Arizona.

Mr. Christiansen is the president of Palmer-Christiansen Company, Inc., a mechanical construction contractor located in Salt Lake City, Utah.

He is active in the association on both the national and local levels. At the national level, he is chairman of the Career Development Committee, a position he has held for two years. He has been a member of the Career Development Committee for seven years. He also serves on the Board of Trustees of the American Council for Construction Education.

At the local level, he has served as a member of the Utah Mechanical Contractors Association Advisory Board for four years. His committee service includes seven years on the Labor-Management Committee and 11 years on the Governmental Affairs Committee. In addition, he has served as a trustee of the Health and Welfare and Pension Plans for four years.

The Mechanical Contractors Association of America, Inc. (MCAA) serves the unique needs of approximately 2,500 firms involved in heating, air conditioning, refrigeration, plumbing, piping, and mechanical service. We do this by providing our members with high-quality educational materials and programs to help them attain the highest level of managerial and technical expertise. MCAA includes the Mechanical Service Contractors of America, the Plumbing Contractors of America, the Manufacturer/Supplier Council, the Mechanical Contracting Education and Research Foundation and the National Certified Pipe Welding Bureau.
