William J. (“Mac”) Lynch Elected Vice President & Assistant Treasurer of the Mechanical Contractors Association of America

ROCKVILLE, MD—The Mechanical Contractors Association of America, Inc. (MCAA) elected William J. (“Mac”) Lynch as its Vice President and Assistant Treasurer during the association’s annual convention in Scottsdale, Arizona.

Mr. Lynch is the president of William F. Lynch Company, Inc., an HVAC, service, plumbing and pipe welding contractor that serves the Worcester, Massachusetts, area.

Appointed to the Board of Directors in 2003, Mr. Lynch is active in the association on both the national and local levels. At the national level, he serves on the Executive Committee and the Board of Directors. He is chairman of the Advanced Leadership Institute (ALI) Committee and a past member of the Safety & Health Committee. He is a graduate of MCAA’s prestigious Advanced Leadership Institute (ALI).

At the local level, Mr. Lynch served as president of the New England Mechanical Contractors Association (NEMCA) and the New England Mechanical Service Contractors Association (NEMSCA).

The Mechanical Contractors Association of America, Inc. (MCAA) serves the unique needs of approximately 2,500 firms involved in heating, air conditioning, refrigeration, plumbing, piping, and mechanical service. We do this by providing our members with high-quality educational materials and programs to help them attain the highest level of managerial and technical expertise. MCAA includes the Mechanical Service Contractors of America, the Plumbing Contractors of America, the Manufacturer/Supplier Council, the Mechanical Contracting Education and Research Foundation and the National Certified Pipe Welding Bureau.
