Mike Feutz of Ferris State University Named MCAA's 2010 Educator of the Year

Educator advises chapter 2010 Student Chapter of the Year to victory

ROCKVILLE, MD—Mike Feutz of Ferris State University in Big Rapids, MI received the Mechanical Contractors Association of America's (MCAA) 2010 Educator of the Year Award during the Annual Awards of Excellence Breakfast on March 9. The breakfast was part of the association's annual convention in Wailea, Maui, Hawaii.

MCAA President Bob Armistead and Career Development Committee Chairman Brett Christiansen presented the award. The committee chose Feutz for his mentoring ability, industry knowledge and involvement, and active participation in Student Chapter Program activities. Perhaps the best proof of his outstanding abilities is the success of the Greater Michigan MSCA Student Chapter at Ferris State University, which earned top honors as the 2010 Student Chapter of the Year.

The Mechanical Contractors Association of America, Inc. (MCAA) serves the unique needs of approximately 2,500 firms involved in heating, air conditioning, refrigeration, plumbing, piping, and mechanical service. We do this by providing our members with high-quality educational materials and programs to help them attain the highest level of managerial and technical expertise. MCAA includes the Mechanical Service Contractors of America, the Plumbing Contractors of America, the Manufacturer/Supplier Council, the Mechanical Contracting Education and Research Foundation and the National Certified Pipe Welding Bureau.
