Donald V. Brown, Jr. Elected to MCAA Board of Directors New York contractor has a proven leadership record

ROCKVILLE, MD—Donald V. Brown, Jr. was elected to the Mechanical Contractors Association of America (MCAA) Board of Directors during the association's annual convention in Wailea, Maui, Hawaii, earlier this month.

Mr. Brown is the president and CEO of D.V. Brown & Associates, Inc., a full-service mechanical contractor located in Tonawanda, New York. The company serves the Buffalo and Western New York areas.

He is active in the association on both the national and local levels. At the national level, he is a member of the Education Committee. At the local level, Mr. Brown served as the Plumbing and Mechanical Contractors Association of Western New York's president, vice president and member of the board.

He is a trustee for United Association Local 22's Pension, Health and Welfare Fund and served on that organization's Negotiating Committee for wages and benefits as well as its Joint Apprenticeship Committee.

The Mechanical Contractors Association of America, Inc. (MCAA) serves the unique needs of approximately 2,500 firms involved in heating, air conditioning, refrigeration, plumbing, piping, and mechanical service. We do this by providing our members with high-quality educational materials and programs to help them attain the highest level of managerial and technical expertise. MCAA includes the Mechanical Service Contractors of America, the Plumbing Contractors of America, the Manufacturer/Supplier Council, the Mechanical Contracting Education and Research Foundation and the National Certified Pipe Welding Bureau.
