COVID-19 Related Legislation

- On Friday afternoon, the U.S. House of Representatives passed the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act, H.R. 748, by voice vote. Within hours President Trump took prompt action when he signed the bill into law. The Senate had given its approval to the CARES Act on Wednesday night by a vote of 96-0. The CARES Act is the third bill in 3 weeks in response to the pandemic, lending the bills shorthand names of 1.0, 2.0, and now 3.0 for the CARES Act. The $2.2 trillion-dollar package includes $500 billion in financial assistance for distressed businesses, $349 billion in low-interest small business loans, and $100 billion in financial assistance for hospitals. The bill includes $1,200 in financial assistance for the lowest income taxpayers, an additional 13 weeks of unemployment compensation benefits, and an employee extension credit.

- The bill text is available here and a section by section summary is available here. A&B has summarized most sections of the bill:
  - A&B Overview – CARES Act Health Care Grants and Reimbursement Changes
  - A&B Overview – CARES Act Key Health Care Appropriations
  - A&B Overview – CARES Act Funding Sources:
    - $367 billion for Small Business Administration
    - $500 billion for the Treasury’s Business Stabilization Loan Fund
    - Tax Credits and Other Potentially Beneficial Tax Considerations
  - A&B Summary – CARES Act Educational Provisions and Appropriations

- The federal agencies will be rapidly developing and releasing guidance for the funding and other provisions the bill requires. As an example, one day after the bill’s enactment the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services released guidance on the accelerated and advance payment program, as required by the CARES Act. The announcement included a statement and fact sheet.
  - For addition analysis, read this A&B advisory (3/30/20) on the CMS guidance.
  - On a House Democratic Conference call last week, House Majority Leader Steny Hoyer (D-MD) told his colleagues there will likely be a “fourth” and “fifth” phase of pandemic relief. It may include technical corrections, new areas of need in response to COVID-19 impact, and stakeholder priorities which failed to gain sufficient support to be included in the last bill.

- Congress passed two other coronavirus response bills during the past three weeks:
  - The first bill, the Coronavirus Preparedness and Response Supplemental (CPPRS) (H.R. 6074), which included $8.3 billion in emergency supplemental funds for key federal agencies responding to the coronavirus epidemic, passed on March 5.
  - The second bill, the Families First Coronavirus Response Act (FFCRA) (H.R. 6201), primarily seeks to mitigate the impact on individuals with provisions on low-income food/nutrition assistance, unemployment insurance, emergency leave, and employer tax credits to partially offset the costs of required leave. It was passed on March 18.

Key Administrative and Regulatory Actions

- President Trump invoked the Defense Production Act (3/18/20) to prioritize and expand the nation’s ability to produce key medical supplies such as ventilators and personal protective equipment. For those wanting to understand the Act, read this A&B blog (3/18/20).
During Tuesday’s White House briefing, the President stated that because of the outpouring of support from the private sector, there has “not been immediate need to use DPA” to increase medical supply procurement and allocation.

- President Trump declared (3/13/20) a national emergency under the Stafford Act, which allows the federal government to marshal additional resources and authorize greater regulatory flexibility to respond to the coronavirus outbreak.

Department of Commerce

- Small Business Administration (SBA)
  - In response to the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (CARES Act) requirements, the SBA just released guidance (3/30/20) on how to make a loan under SBA’s Economic Injury Disaster Loan Program to the qualified entities listed in this application that are impacted by the Coronavirus (COVID-19).
    - A&B advice: borrowers and lenders are reminded of the care they should take that all information used to secure funding under the new law is accurate and true in all material respects. As with traditional SBA loans, those that resulted from the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, and other government financial programs, we can expect future government investigations by the Office of the Special Inspector General for Pandemic Recovery (established by the CARES Act), the SBA Office of Inspector General, and other Inspector Generals, and claims under the False Claims Act if, for example, false information with respect to a company’s size or payroll, is provided in order to secure a loan or increase loan forgiveness under the law.

- Department of Commerce (DOC) Bureau of Industry and Security posted a statement describing the structure of the Defense Priorities and Allocations System (DPAS) and the authority delegated to other agencies. The statement links to a DPAS training Course to assist a company that receives priority rated contracts, subcontracts, or purchase order from the U.S. government or its contractors.
  - Commercial Property Insurance: Legal actions have begun around existing commercial property insurance terms, which generally do not provide business interruption or civil authority coverage where businesses have been impacted by the pandemic and related Stay-At-Home orders and social distancing guidelines. Lawmakers are responding by looking for alternative routes around existing commercial insurance terms.
  - On March 25, French Laundry Partners, KRM, Inc. and Yountville Food Emporium, LLC, the operators and managing entities for three restaurants in Napa, California filed a joint complaint against Hartford Insurance Company and Trumbull Insurance Company in California state court. Plaintiffs seek a declaratory judgment that the March 18 Stay-At-Home order of the health officer of Napa County triggered coverage under their policy’s Civil Authority provisions, and that business losses are otherwise covered losses under the policy because the policy does not exclude losses incurred as a result of a viral pandemic.
  - Oceana Grill, a popular New Orleans restaurant, filed the first lawsuit (3/16/20) against its insurance carrier seeking confirmation that its commercial property insurance policy provides business interruption and civil authority coverage for claims relating to COVID-19.

- On March 24, the Chickasaw Nation Department of Commerce and the Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma each filed separate lawsuits in Oklahoma state court against their property insurers. The Nations seek a declaratory judgment that their insurance policies cover the Nations’ business losses and expenses related to the COVID-19 pandemic and infection. These complaints follow the March 16 complaint by Oceana Grill in Louisiana state court.

- On March 24, Ohio lawmakers followed New Jersey’s lead, proposing new legislation that purports to require insurance carriers to provide coverage for business interruption due to global virus transmission or pandemic, essentially re-writing policy language in the absence of an unambiguous exclusion. Like the New Jersey bill, Ohio’s proposal is limited to only those policies issued to insureds located in Ohio that employ 100 or fewer employees.
  - A New Jersey lawmakers introduced bill A-3844 (3/16/20), which purports to require insurance carriers to provide coverage for business interruption due to global virus transmission or pandemic, in essence re-writing policy language.
  - Massachusetts lawmakers went a step further than those in New Jersey and Ohio, proposing legislation on March 24 that purports to require that “every policy of insurance insuring against loss or damage to property, notwithstanding the terms of such policy” include among its covered perils “coverage for business interruption directly or indirectly resulting from the global pandemic known as COVID-19.” The Massachusetts bill further prohibits insurers in Massachusetts from denying a claim for business interruption coverage on grounds that COVID-19 is a virus or because there was no physical damage to property. The Massachusetts bill would apply to insureds with 150 or fewer employees.

Department of Health and Human Services

On March 27, the FTC sent letters to nine VoIP providers and other companies warning them that “assisting and facilitating” illegal telemarketing or robocalls related to the Coronavirus pandemic, including by providing VoIP services, is against the law. The warning letters note that combatting illegal robocalls, especially those involving Coronavirus, are a top priority for the FTC. This is the second time the FTC sent warning letters to companies for their actions related to the pandemic. Earlier in the month the FTC and FDA sent warning letters to seven companies about unsupported claims that products can treat or prevent Coronavirus.

The FTC Chairman Joe Simons issued a statement (3/26/20) outlining the agency’s efforts to protect consumers during the Coronavirus pandemic. Simons also acknowledged the challenges businesses face in getting important goods and services to people across the country, and that the agency would be “flexible and reasonable” in enforcing compliance requirements. - For a deeper dive in how federal agencies will review merger transactions during the coronavirus pandemic, read this A&B advisory. (3/19/20)
- Federal antitrust agencies to extend merger reviews. The DOJ announced (3/17/20) it will be asking some merging parties to voluntarily grant the DOJ an additional 30 days to investigate. This comes one day after the director of the Federal Trade Commission’s...
(FTC) Bureau of Competition posted a notice (3/16/20) explaining that parties should expect the FTC to reach out to discuss “appropriate modifications of statutory or agreed-to timing arrangements” in its antitrust investigations, while reserving the right to seek court relief if extensions are not provided. The agencies began receiving federal pre-merger notification (Hart-Scott-Rodino Act) filings exclusively via electronic submission and announced (3/17/20) that no “early terminations” will be granted until further notice. Therefore, even transactions that don’t pose significant antitrust concerns cannot close before the expiration of the full statutory waiting period (typically 30 days).

Other Agencies

• Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) issued an enforcement memo, “COVID-19 Implications for EPA’s Enforcement and Compliance Assurance Program” (3/26/20), detailing the Agency’s plan to exercise enforcement discretion for situations related to COVID-19. The policy is retroactive to March 13.
  o EPA will not seek fines and penalties for missed deadlines in routine monitoring, testing, and reporting; settlement agreements; and consent decrees, and for excess emissions, so long as the company documents in detail that it was related to COVID-19 and takes every effort to meet compliance obligations. EPA must be notified of emission exceedances.
  o EPA is allowing hazardous generators to store additional waste onsite, for longer periods of time, without requiring a permit or changing generator status.
  o For animal feeding operations, the inability to transfer animals off-site will not trigger regulation as a CAFO, or a larger-categorized CAFO.
  o EPA may offer “No Action Assurance” to operators of some critical infrastructure facilities, on a case-by-case basis.
  o Public water systems are excluded from this policy.
• EPA also issued a warning to pesticide producers, manufacturers, distributors, and importers who claim their products can be used against COVID-19: ensuring companies comply with all applicable requirements for pesticide products – including prohibitions on false and misleading claims – will be the agency’s “focus” in order to protect public health.

• On March 26, EPA added 70 new surface disinfectants to EPA’s List N: Disinfectants for Use Against SARS-CoV-2 (List N), bringing the total number of products on the list to more than 350.

• EPA is allowing manufacturers of disinfectants to obtain certain inert ingredients and inactive ingredients from different suppliers without checking with the agency for approval.

• EPA created a website, Coronavirus and Drinking Water and Wastewater, which states that the risk to water supplies from the COVID-19 virus is low, and “Americans can continue to use and drink water from their tap as usual.”

• The Healthcare Waste Institute (HWI) of the National Waste & Recycling Association (NWRA) has asked states to grant flexibility for Regulated Medical Waste (RMW) handling to extend maximum storage times at health care and treatment facilities and allow storage of large quantities at treatment facilities.
  o Florida is allowing extended hours for permitted medical waste facilities and can grant waivers for storage times and tonnage limits, upon request.

• Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration (FMCSA) has exempted waste haulers from hours-of-service (HOS) regulations in its Expanded Emergency Declaration.
  o Restrictions have also been lifted in states such as AL, MA, and TX.

• The NWRA asked the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) to issue guidance to states to allow hauling of extra heavy loads of COVID-19 waste via special permits.
  o States including MD, NE, ND, TN, and VA have lifted weight restrictions for overweight trucks transporting waste. States including AL, CA, CT, IA, KY, OK, and TN have issued extensions on Commercial Drivers Licenses (CDLs).

• The Department of Agriculture Rural Development Division has launched a resource page to help rural residents, farmers, and businesses stay current on the Agency actions related to COVID-19.

• The construction industry is confronting multiple coronavirus related crises. To understand the trends read this A&B advisory (3/19/20) on the five best practices.
  o Construction contracts: The availability of force majeure and other related doctrines to excuse contractual performance is examined here (3/23/20).

Trade and International Business Issues

• Senate Finance Republicans urge the administration to alleviate COVID-19 harmful impact on trade policy and outlined policies which might be used to combat the economic harm caused by the coronavirus pandemic and are calling for multilateral cooperation and a “total moratorium” on new tariffs. Led by Chairman Chuck Grassley (R-IA), the lawmakers urge President Trump, the U.S. Trade Representative Robert Lighthizer, and other officials to quickly take several actions to “blunt the health and economic impact of COVID-19,” according to a March 25 letter.

• Changes in the way European competition authorities will be enforcing the rules during the coronavirus pandemic are examined in this A&B advisory. (3/25/20)
Transportation and supply chain problems – China to seal boarders to most foreigners. China’s Civil Aviation Administration announced it will block almost all foreigners from entering the country starting on March 28, a recognition that most new coronavirus cases were coming from overseas now that the government slowed the spread of the disease among its own people.

General U.S. government agency operations (Treasury, State, Customs and Border Protection, Commerce, and USTR). CBP will no longer take requests to defer payments of customs duties, the agency said in a CSMS message. “CBP will retain the right to allow additional days for narrow circumstances, including a physical inability to file entry or payments, due to technology outages or port closures,” the agency said. CBP briefly allowed for such deferral requests due to the COVID-19 outbreak. “Although the temporary option was provided to extend payment due dates, if the money was withdrawn from the account, these funds are legally owed to CBP and a refund will not be issued,” it said on March 26. “Trade users need to work with their financial institutions to ensure that future ACH debit and ACH credit payments to CBP are processed appropriately.”

USTR has issued another set of product exclusions from the fourth group of Section 301 tariffs on goods from China on March 25. The new exclusions from the tariffs include “five 10-digit HTSUS subheadings and seven specially prepared product descriptions, which together cover 36 separate exclusion requests” according to the notice. The product exclusions apply retroactively to September 1, 2019, the date the fourth set of tariffs took effect. They will remain in effect until September 1, 2020.

G20 Leaders pledged to address trade disruptions caused by COVID-19. “Emergency measures aimed at protecting health will be targeted, proportionate, transparent, and temporary,” G20 leaders said in a joint statement issued after a teleconference. “We commit to continue working together to facilitate international trade and coordinate responses in ways that avoid unnecessary interference with international traffic and trade.” The full G20 leaders’ March 26 Statement on COVID-19 can be found here.

With possible disruptions impacting business operations in China and elsewhere, as well as disruption for U.S. companies relying on the supply of both component parts and finished goods outside the U.S., the question is whether the coronavirus is a force majeure event that will excuse their nonperformance. For information see this A&B advisory. (3/25/20)

The Organizations for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) outlined tax policy (3/20/20) steps countries can take to respond to the economic impact of the coronavirus pandemic, including, for example, waiving or delaying payroll-related taxes and employer and self-employed social security contributions, providing tax breaks to health and emergency workers, extending deadlines for tax filing and payments, accelerating tax refunds, deferring estimated payments, liberalizing loss carryforward and carryback provisions.
